2. Mr. Proctor had a session with Ambassador Bush yesterday in which he showed him a dozen or so examples of various publications.
For the immediate future, Mr. Bush only wants to see two items: the NID and the Operations Center News Highlights. He also expressed interest in the CIWR and the IOD, but apparently does not want to be on distribution for them prior to his confirmation. Mr. Bush's focus is clearly on being confirmed and on catching up with developments relating to intelligence reorganization and the investigations.
Mr. Proctor had the impression that Mr. Bush would not delve as deeply into the substance of intelligence reports as Mr. Colby.
His approach is very informal and he is easy to talk to.

3. Mr. Proctor noted that there were four security violations during November, lower than last year, but two higher than last month.

4. Mr. Lehman was primary drafter of the Agency's comments on the Ogilvie report. Mr. Proctor distributed copies of these comments, asking that they not be circulated too widely.

5. [ ] OLC, has indicated that the annual round of world-wide briefings will begin on 25 or 26 January.
